Description

Damnok Toek Reception & Day Care Center is located in Banteay Meanchey Province in Cambodia, on the border to Thailand and was established by Goette de'Eau, a Swiss charitable organisation, to offer by the Thai authorities deported children a chance to escape the vicious cycle of trafficking, to ensure a sustainable reintegration into their families and prepare them for an independent life. Damnok Toek offers a wide range of services from a 24 hour drop-in center for street children, a rehabilitation centre for substance abusing and traumatised children, a reception centre for trafficked children, a residential centre for children who cannot reintegrate and a day care centre that offers non-formal education to these neglected children. Child's Dream supported the project in 2006 by constructing three residential houses, which provide housing for up to 15 students each. Now we are looking to support the renovation of the residential houses as well as one office building to keep a safe and comfortable environment for the children. The renovation will especially target the steel roofs of the buildings, which have become rusty over the years and thus cannot support the roof tiles anymore; creating an unsafe environment especially during strong winds.

Implementation

We will hire a local contractor, who will be responsible for purchasing the needed construction materials and coordinating all phases of the renovation. This project is considered a low risk project as the centre is situated not too far from town and the area is easily accessible. Our staff in Cambodia will monitor the development of the construction regularly to make sure, it is executed according to our high standards. Since we have already successfully completed a project in the centre in 2006 and have had very good experiences collaborating with Goutte d'eau in the past, we expect this project to be completed without any problems or delays. The renovation takes place from January to February 2016. In order to assure the quality of work, a network between the involved NGOs and governmental agencies has been established and regular meetings will be held.
